Gentlemen:

I am endeavoring to purchase some cloth covered boards for the mounting of coins to be presented to several boy collectors but do not know where they can be obtained. If you have the information and can conveniently do so, I should appreciate your noting the address, or addresses, of someone who sells such boards on the bottom of this letter, returning it to me in the attached stamped envelope.

Thanking you for your kindness in this matter, I am,

Sincerely yours,

Philip R. Walker

Dear Sir:

In answer to your letter of the 24th, as we have never used such boards except what we have made ourselves, I cannot help you with addresses. We have taken laminated wood or compo boards and covered them with black felt. These could easily be done by almost anyone, or possibly they could be made by a paper box manufacturer. If you are looking for boards with round holes cut in them, both sides covered with cellulois, there is a concern that makes them, namely, The Beistle Company, Shippensburg, Pennsylvania; also, B. Max Mehl, Fort Worth, Texas, may have some of these boards on hand.

Very truly yours,

Curator.
